EDUCATION OTHERWISE AWAIT NFER REPORT

Education Otherwise, the leading national charity for families who educate their children from home, awaits with interest the report from NFER on Support for Home Educating Families, which we understand is to be published on July 27th.

This NFER Report coincides with a major public consultation conducted by the DCSF into written Guidelines on Home Education for Local Authorities.

There is an increasing amount of interest in the area of home-based education from parents and from the media.

Representatives of Education Otherwise are available to comment on the main findings and recommendations of the NFER Report.
